The diagram consists of two parts. On the left, a raised garden bed is shown with a flat base. A smiling face is drawn on the front of the bed, and a large checkmark is placed next to it, indicating that this setup is correct for good drainage. On the right, the same raised garden bed is shown but with a sloped base. A sad face is drawn on the front of the bed, and a large 'X' is placed next to it, indicating that this setup is incorrect because it leads to poor drainage.
